

MAINE NATURAL GAS

Maine Natural Gas is in the home stretch — and committed to serve Augusta.

If you saw our statement in Tuesday's Kennebec Journal, you know Maine Natural Gas withdrew from the City's RFP process. That decision won't affect our plans to bring you natural gas this fall — at the lowest prices in the market.

In fact, we have strengthened our efforts to provide affordable natural gas to hundreds of homes, businesses, and institutions in Augusta — including the new MaineGeneral Medical Center and the University of Maine.

We've made good progress since we broke Augusta ground last fall:

- Our steel "backbone" pipeline is 80% complete.
- We're employing 225 skilled Mainers in good jobs every day.
- Our tap into the Maritimes & Northeast interstate pipeline will be finished this month.
- We've signed nearly 200 commercial, institutional, and residential customers — all eager to begin saving money this year.

We will finish building our core delivery network in September, and start flowing natural gas to our customers in the following weeks.

We're grateful to the Augusta business owners, institutions, and homeowners who have already put their faith in Maine Natural Gas — and we will honor that trust by focusing all of our time and energy to bring affordable natural gas to Augusta.

That's our commitment to you.
